

Delighted to share that Dr. Sharda Kosankar, Scientist E, CSIR-NEERI, was invited by the University of Nottingham, UK, to participate in the international workshop on “Monitoring the Presence and Stability of Mine Waste,” held on 24–27 August 2026. Dr. Kosankar represented CSIR-NEERI at this important international platform. During the workshop, she shared her expertise and research findings on mine pollution, environmental monitoring, and ecological restoration of mine landscapes in India.

The workshop provided an excellent opportunity for knowledge exchange and international collaboration among researchers and experts working on mine waste, environmental sustainability, and landscape restoration. It also helped advance scientific research, sustainable environmental management, and international collaboration for restoring mining landscapes.
